TERRES DE L'EBRE

"You name it, here you have it" seems to be the case in these lands, and make them quite exceptional if not unique.

It is the case of the Terres de l'Ebre; a declared UNESCO Biosphere Reserve, here is a natural mosaic of gastronomy, culture and landscape, laid out between the Mediterranean Sea and the southernmost part of the Catalan pre-coastal mountain range.

An extensive network of cycling itineraries allows you to tour this relatively small territory, which offers a landscape of spectacular natural beauty, located far enough away from the agglomerations of conventional tourist circuits.

ITINERARIES TO GET TO KNOW BAIX EBRE – TERRES DE L'EBRE

Cycletourism is a relaxing way to discover Terres de l'Ebre and its varied scenery. The converted train track Greenway La Val de Zafán which goes through Terra Alta to Tortosa is ideal for families and groups of friends to cycle along together, taking in the scenery on the way. The same can be said for various stages of the The Ebro Nature Trail. In fact, the bicycle will take the visitor to some of the most out-of-the-way spots on the Delta Ebro Nature Reserve. Here lanes lead to quiet beaches past lagoons and fields of rice.

To sum up, Baix Ebre region and the whole area of Terres del Ebre has a network of more than 1.000 kilometres of lanes and quiet country roads apart from the Greenway: more than 130 kilometres and completely free of traffic. The most mountainous areas of these regions also have a good network of routes for nature lovers and mountain bikers with paths that go through mountain ranges, ridges, olive groves and quiet villages full of history.

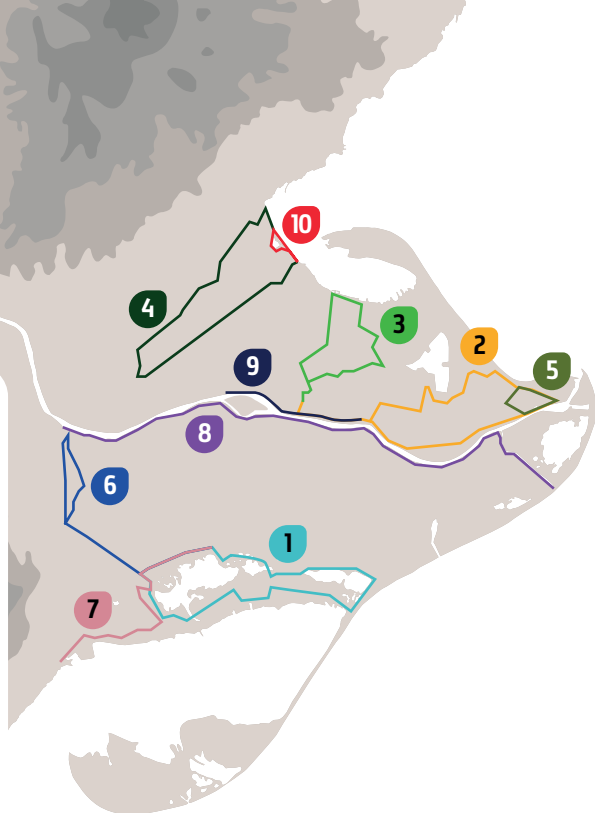

One of the great things about the lanes, trails and cycleways in Terres de l'Ebre is that they link the two nature reserves (The Ports and the Delta), and the most interesting agricultural areas and gastronomy in the region too. Combining cycling with visits to local attractions and cultural sites is made easy by the interconnectedness of all this in Terres de l'Ebre, and stays can be repeated or lengthened accordingly. In brief, a great variety of routes where the contrasts predominate and which allow to discover firsthand the most emblematic features of the area.

There is no doubt that a bicycle and the Ebro Delta are an inseparable combination, as you must have heard about the rides through the Ebro Delta which cross extensions and expanses of rice fields.

Parc Natural Delta de l'Ebre offers its visitors a wide and varied range of cycling itineraries allowing you to discover by bicycle all of the most interesting places that this unique area has to share.

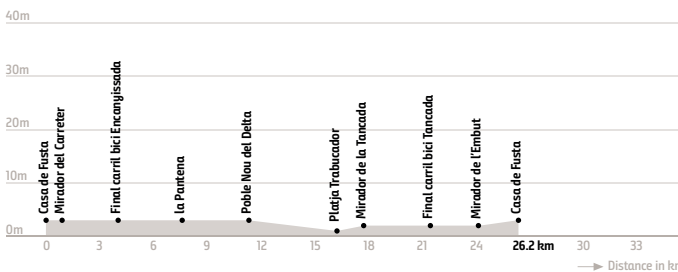

ITINERARY 1 - The lagoon route

An ideal route for exploring the two main lagoons on the southern side of the Ebro Delta. Starting at the Casa de Fusta, the trail runs parallel along l'Encanyissada Lagoon and ends up in Poble Nou del Delta, where you can then decide to return by the same route or continue along the trail to the Tancada Lagoon.

Not to be missed: the observatories, Poble Nou del Delta, the traditional fishing arts and the salt works.

ITINERARY 8 - The Delta Towpath

The towpath is an ancient way linked to the river culture of the area. The bargemen used to send their flat bottom boats, filled mostly with sacks of rice but with other merchandise too, up river using just their own strength or pulled by their animals. It is a route of great beauty that crosses riverside woods, typical villages and ends up at the observatory the Alfacada.

Not to be missed: the riverside forests, the llagut boats and the islands of Gràcia and of Buda.

4 ITINERARIES IN TERRES DE L'EBRE

Apart from the long distance hiking and cycling pathways, all four counties that make up Terres de l'Ebre have their own local paths connecting the towns, villages and lesser known beauty spots.

These 4 routes are just a few of the many routes that can be enjoyed in the territory.

- 1 La Galera Ravine
- 2 Serra de Cardó circuit
- 3 Saint James' Way
- 4 Up to Mount Caro

ITINERARY 1 - La Galera Ravine

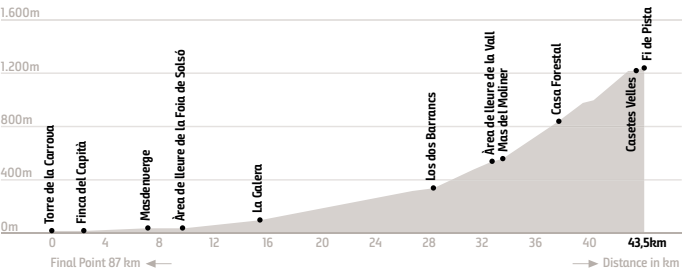

This advanced level route begins at the end of the Carrova ravine and follows the path leading up to its source at the Ports crest. It crosses areas of historical and natural interest and represents a very important biological corridor between the Ports and the Ebro River.

Not to be missed: the Galera and Solsó Ravines, the Sénia River and the views of the Ports Natural Park.

GREENWAY LA VAL DE ZAFÁN

The Greenway touristic cycling route is 135 km long and follows the old railway line of the Val de Zafán, which used to link Tortosa with Aragón. Nowadays, the old train route has become a very popular bicycle route, ideal for everybody. From Tortosa, the Greenway joins the Tortosa-Aldea-Deltebre Nature Way that crosses the rice fields to the mouth of the Ebro River.

Not to be missed: the tunnels and bridges of the old railway line which winds through the valleys, ravines and the croplands along the way.

RECOMMENDATIONS

The conservation of Protected Areas is everyone's responsibility

Do not light fires. Carelessness can destroy something that nature has taken centuries to create.

Respect crops, gates and fences and other infrastructures on private property.

Several herds of extensively reared bulls graze in the Els Ports Protected Area. Beware, they can be dangerous.

Most of the Els Ports Protected Area is also a National Hunting Reserve. See the wild boar battue calendar on the Park's website.

If you are mountain biking:

»Keep to the paths, don't ride cross-country.

»Don't ride on trails with stone or wooden steps or on those expressly forbidden to bicycles.
